IDA FOUNDATION

IDA FOUNDATION TO OFFER FREE SHIPPING UNTIL THE END OF THE YEAR

Since the early start of the pandemic we have been supplying PPE and other urgent supplies to countries worldwide, and we have seen the effects of the unforeseen costs that come with it. Budgets need to be reassessed and customers must find a balance between products required and increased transport costs.

To support with transport costs, the World Food Program (WFP) helped many humanitarian organisations in COVID-19 by offering Free-to-User cargo services, but this is now ending. Under this service, approximately 80.000 m3 of cargo was dispatched free of charge, reaching 169 countries and 62 organisations. We appreciate WFP's initiative in providing this service, as we know it has benefited many of our partners.

To extend the benefits of this initiative, IDA would like to bridge this gap and step in to provide its own free cargo service to all customers from today until the 31st of December, on all new stock orders from our Dutch warehouse. In doing so, we hope that our customers can continue to serve as many patients as possible in these challenging times.

The following transport options are included in this offer:

- Via sea to all main seaports
- Via truck to all destinations within Europe
- Via air to main airports up to 1000 kg chargeable weight

If you want to make use of this offer or receive more information, please reach out to your IDA contact.
